The Thing in the Sewer

Use your year group SC list to continue writing the story.

Running underneath the city was a string of deep, dark tunnels which were filled with the sewage of the people who lived above it. The tunnels were always empty, but the sound of the water sloshing around could be heard from above, almost like there was something living down there.

One day, a boy dropped his keys down a drain into the sewer. He panicked, “what should I do?” he wondered. Carefully, he lifted the drain and climbed down the ladder which was covered in mysterious goo and began his journey into the sewer. As he followed the twists and turns of the tunnel, he started to feel like someone, or something, was following him…
