

Red Challenge:

- 1) Pick one of these questions that you'd like to ask a friend in your letter and write it down in your book using the correct punctuation (capital letter and question mark).

what have you been up to have you watched any good films recently

- 2) Now write your own question that you'd like to ask. Make sure to include a question mark.
- 3) Now write one sentence you could include at the end of your letter to encourage your friend to write back.

Yellow Challenge:

Write down 2-3 questions you'd like to ask your friend when you write a letter to them tomorrow. You should also add a sentence at the end to encourage them to write back to you.

Green Challenge:

Write a concluding paragraph for your letter to a friend. Include 2-3 questions you'd like to ask them. You can also include your answer to some of the questions you ask (see the example below). You should also add a sentence at the end to encourage them to write back to you.

Anyway, enough about me. What have you been up to? Have you watched any good films recently? I watched 'Matilda' the other day and it reminded me of when we read it in class. Have you been enjoying the sun? Write back to me soon. I can't wait to hear from you!
