

Red

What is the subject of the statue? Golden Buddha

How does it make you feel? Feel in awe, or so much smaller

Which religion do you think the statue represents? Buddhism - they worship Buddha

Why do you like this statue and why? Inside there are 125 000 smaller statues

How is it decorated? It is made of bronze and covered thinly with gold leaf

Yellow

What is the subject of the statue? Giant Buddha / Shiva

How does it make you feel? Feel respect and overwhelmed / Grateful and protected

Which religion do you think the statues represent? Buddhism - they worship Buddha / Hinduism - Shiva has more than two arms

Why do you think that it is important? Buddhists are reminded of Siddhartha Gautama - the origins Buddhist / Shiva is part of the trinity -Shiva, Brahma and Vishnu

Where in the world do you think this statue is from? China - huge Buddhist following / India - Hinduism has many gods. Shiva is one of them

Is it decorated? How? It is carved out of a hillside. No painting / White, has beads, has 4 arms

Green: This will differ depending on the statues researched. No statues for Judaism and Islam

What is the subject of the statue? Buddhism - they worship Buddha / Hinduism - Shiva has more than two arms / Christianity - Christ

How does it make you feel? Feel respect and overwhelmed / Grateful and protected / Makes me feel welcomed

Which religion do you think the statues represent? Why? Buddhism - they worship Buddha / Hinduism - Shiva has more than two arms / Christianity - similar to images of Christ

Where in the world do you think this statue is from? China - huge Buddhist following / India - Hinduism has many gods. Shiva is one of them / This one is in Brazil - Catholic church is dominant

Why do you think that it is this statue important? Buddha is the one who found the path to Enlightenment - when a Buddhist finds the truth about life and stops being reborn. This statue reminds them of that. / Shiva is one of the trinity - very important god / It is a symbol of Brazilian Christianity

Which one do you prefer and why? Like the decorations / Like what it stands for / Likes how it makes me feel.