

Red Challenge

Change these sentences to the first person (in other words as if you had done what is written). Remember I/we/my/mine.

1. Tom went to their lesson.
2. He rolled the dice and then moved the counter forwards.
3. Sam washed his hair twice this week.
4. Mr Smith planted some pretty flowers and cut the grass around them.
5. Henry had a yummy midnight feast and made a lot of noise!
6. They ate everything on their plate.
7. They did not know what to do.
8. Bob put his hat on his head.

Yellow Challenge

Change these sentences to the first person (in other words as if you had done what is written).

1. Henry had a yummy midnight feast and made a lot of noise!
2. They ate everything on their plate.
3. They did not know what to do.
4. Bob put his hat on his head.

Change this text so that it is written in the first person – as if you were the person doing all the things written about.

In the evenings, after he had finished his cabbage soup, Charlie always went into the room of his four grandparents to listen to their stories, and then afterwards he said goodnight before he went to bed.

Green Challenge

Change this text so that it is written in the first person – as if you were the person doing all the things written about.

Twice a day, on his way to and from school, little Charlie Bucket had to walk right past the gates of the factory. And every time he went by, he would begin to walk very, very slowly. He would hold his nose high in the air and take long deep sniffs of the gorgeous chocolatey smells around him.

In the evenings, after he had finished his cabbage soup, Charlie always went into the room of his four grandparents to listen to their stories, and then afterwards he said goodnight before he went to bed.

One evening, when Charlie went in to see his grandparents, he said to them,

“is it really true that Wonka’s Chocolate factory is the biggest in the world?”