

Red

Children say that school uniforms are boring. However, teachers disagree because school uniforms help to create a calm atmosphere in school. Furthermore, studies show that schools with a strict uniform policy have better test results. Despite the differences in opinions, most schools in the United Kingdom have a compulsory school uniform.

A group of children at Monkwick Junior School are starting a petition to bring to the headteacher: they believe enough signatures could persuade teachers at the school to change their policy on school uniforms.

Yellow

Children say that school uniforms are boring. However, teachers disagree because school uniforms help to create a calm atmosphere in school. Furthermore, studies show that schools with a strict uniform policy have better test results. Despite the differences in opinions, most schools in the United Kingdom have a compulsory school uniform.

A group of children at Monkwick Junior School are starting a petition to bring to the headteacher: they believe enough signatures could persuade teachers at the school to change their policy on school uniforms.

Green

Here is one example:

Most children say that school uniforms are boring; others disagree because uniforms can look smart and formal. Teachers believe that school uniforms help to create a calm atmosphere in school. Furthermore, studies show that schools with a strict uniform policy have better test results. Despite the differences in opinions, most schools in the United Kingdom have a compulsory school uniform.

A group of children at Monkwick Junior School are starting a petition to bring to the headteacher: they believe enough signatures could persuade teachers at the school to change their policy on school uniforms.